At the first Pasadena-Rayburn football game, GSL members Paul Moore and Janie Burns accept a gift from Rayburn's representatives.

Guided by six officers and Miss McKinley, Student Council representatives from each homeroom endeavored to bring about better understanding between the faculty and the student body of Pasadena High. A service organization, the student Council sponsored the sale of football banners and collected students' contributions to the United Fund. At Christmas the organization gave students the opportunity to provide food and clothing for needy families.

Interest in Books Opens New Doors

The activities of the Library Club stimulate interest in books and promote understanding of the library and its functions. Lectures by guest speakers and book reviews emphasize current literary developments. Parliamentary procedure is stressed throughout the club's meetings. A member of the statewide affiliation of high school library clubs, the organization attended the district convention in La Grange. Its social activities included a Christmas breakfast and a trip down the Houston Ship Channel.

Dramatic Entertainment

The National Thespian Society began an unusually active year with the presentation of the comedy "Ah, Wilderness" and the Eagle Escapades, a talent show. At the Parent-Teachers Association Convention, excerpts from "Our Town" were given, and in assembly during Texas Education Week, Thespians demonstrated their abilities in brief examples of poetry interpretation and humorous interpretation. The club sponsored and participated in a drama clinic involving three local high schools. As part of PHS's Fine Arts Festival, the troupe presented the farce "The Imaginary Invalid", the play with which Pasadena won first place in district competition.

Pasadena's NFL attended numerous tournaments in the Houston area and visited also tournaments sponsored by San Jacinto Junior College, Centenary College in Shreveport, Louisiana, and Sam Houston State College.

In district competition, Rokki Roberts and Terry Eska won first place in boys' debate. Also, Bonnie Smith placed first in girls' persuasive speaking, and Bobby Powitzky took first place in boys' poetry. Distributive Education Gives Experience

The goal of Distributive Educational training is to foster vocational understanding in the field of distribution and to nurture an understanding of the free enterprise system. PHS's D.E. Clubs I and II are affiliated with the national organization, Distributive Education Clubs of America.

The Distributive Education program provides for the employment of high school students by local businessmen. In order to be accepted in D.E. a student must have good grades, an excellent attendance record, and the approval of one of the Distributive Education Coordinators.

One of the projects of D.E. Club I was the construction of a float for the Pasadena Rodeo Parade. The group also went on a hayride to the Rocking R Ranch.

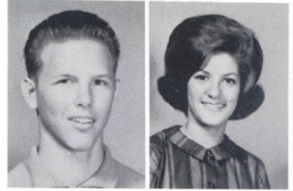

The major project of the D.E. Club II was the Campus Beautification Style Show presented in December. Local clothing stores donated apparel and accessories for all occasions, and the D.E. students themselves served as models. Funds from the show were used to improve the appearance of the PHS campus.

Both clubs were participants in D.E. contests such as job interview, business speaking, and advertising. D.E. I closed its year with an ice cream party, and Club II had a picnic.

"Toward New Horizons", the motto of the Future Homemakers of America, reminds members that their contributions to home life today will influence their homes of tomorrow. Guided by the principle that family life influences the community and the world, the organization strives to improve personal, family, and community living. In November Tim Gentry, Gary Reichelderfer, Donnie Wilson, and John Burns were elected FHA beaus. To improve the home-making department, the club put up curtains in the kitchen and clothing lab. The activities of the Youth for Christ Club are open to all who care to join the organization. Reaching students through its weekly meetings and area-wide rallies, the club encourages participation in local church functions. The devotional programs heard each morning during the homeroom period are a service of the YFC Club. Members enjoyed Christian fellowship such as the football season socials and the Christmas caroling party.

Christian Fellowship

The A Cappella Choir performed for the Pasadena Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs. Its activities in school functions included performances for the Parent-Teachers' Association Convention and for visitors attending PHS during Texas Education Week in March.

Spring brought Interscholastic League competition in solo and ensemble work and in concert and sight reading by the entire choir. In April the A Cappella Choir took its annual tour. The choir traveled in Central Texas for four days, performing for school assemblies and church services in Temple, Giddings, Rosenberg, and Round Rock. Members and chaperones relaxed from the demanding tour schedule with an overnight stay at Buchanan Lake, near Austin. Choral activities ended with the annual spring concert in May.

Susan Smathers and David Sullivan were elected favorites of the A Cappella Choir.

Eaglettes and cheerleaders anticipate their cue to yell the Eagles out of a huddle.

Eaglettes Promote School Spirit

Composed of girls from all four grades, the Eaglettes' pep squad was newly organized this year by sponsors, Mrs. Carol Kirn and Miss Florence Reich. Preparation for this year's activities began in the spring of 1964 with the selection of uniforms, and in the fall officers were elected to arrange schedules for rehearsals and performances. Specializing in hand drills to correspond with each cheer, the Eaglettes added color and enthusiasm to Pasadena's pep rallies and football games.

By carrying the study of the Spanish language outside classroom activities, members of the Spanish Club learn to put it to a more practical use as a living language. The club's activities familiarize its members with the history, customs, literature, art, and music of the peoples of Spanish-speaking countries.

R and E Teaches Electronics Technology

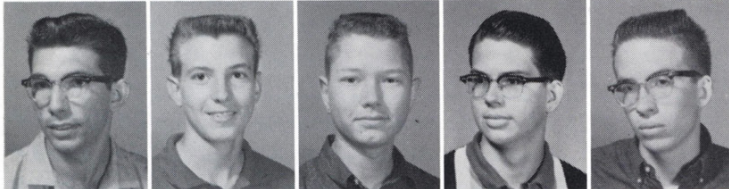

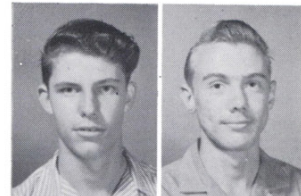

Sonny Wesoloski works carefully in constructing a radio receiver.

By encouraging the standards of the statewide Vocational Industrial Club, Pasadena's VIC organizations endeavor to develop high standards of workmanship, scholarship, trade ethics, and safety. The field of study of the Radio and Electronics chapter is radio and television sets. Besides preparing to enter the Fall and Spring District Meets and the State Meet, members work on individual projects such as amplifiers, bird calls, and high frequency detectors. The club boasts one district officer, Ronnie Taylor, who will serve next year as Sergeant-at-Arms for District III.

“Preparing Today for Leadership Tomorrow,” the motto of the Vocational Industrial Clubs, is a guideline of the Metal Trades chapter. This chapter took fourteen places in the Spring District Meet. It also did the work necessary to complete the installation of benches on the campus. As a group, this chapter had a breakfast at a local cafeteria and attended a church service.

In line with the ideals of the Vocational Industrial Club, the Automechanics chapter strives to foster a deeper respect for the dignity of work. The chapter captured thirteen ribbons at the Spring District Meet, excelling in speed and skill competition as well as in individual projects. Attending the State Technical Meet during April was another of its activities. Among the field trips taken by the group was a visit to Motoric, a motor reconditioning center.

Emphasize Service

Members of the National Honor Society are selected on the basis of character, leadership, scholarship, and service, and it is these attributes which the Society seeks to encourage and maintain. At Thanksgiving and Christmas, members contributed food and clothing for families in the Pasadena area. In February parents and special guests were honored at a banquet. Many members served as tutors in the school's program. Of the new members elected in April, junior students were responsible for the preparation of diplomas for the graduating senior class.

Teaching Profession

The activities of the Nevada Miller Chapter of Future Teachers of America afford students an opportunity to explore the possibilities of teaching as a career. To raise funds for a scholarship for a senior member, the club sold boutonnieres during homecoming week and contributed money earned by doing odd jobs on Hobo Day. Two of its projects were the construction of a float for the rodeo parade and the collection of provisions for a needy family at Christmas. The club also gave a Christmas party, and in May new officers were elected and installed.

Medicine Presents Challenge

The Medical Careers Club familiarizes its members with the qualifications for professions in the field of medicine and health. At each meeting one member reported on a medical topic. The group attended meetings of the Harris County Medical Careers Association, which were held in the Jesse Jones Library in Houston. Medical persons were invited to speak to the club. At Christmas the club contributed goods for the needy and combined with the Medical Careers Clubs of Sam Rayburn and South Houston High Schools to decorate the Autumn Leaves Nursing Home.
