The titles of Mr. and Miss South Houston went to Kevin Craft and Kelley Arnold. After a vote by the senior class, Kevin and Kelley were found to be the two people who best exemplified and represented South Houston High.

Kelley Arnold was involved in 'Jannettes, Mu Alpha Theta, JETS, and the National Honor Society. As a 'Jannette, she held the positions of secretary her junior year and lieutenant as a senior. She also qualified for All-State drill team. Kelley said that being named Miss So Ho, "Was a real thrill."

Kevin Craft played varsity football and was team captain his senior year. He was also Law Enforcement Vice-President. He was class favorite during his junior and senior years. Kevin felt his being chosen was "One of the best and biggest things that has happened to me; It's a big honor."

Center Stage . . . Senior Spotlights

As a finale to four dedicated years of memorable moments, recognition was brought to a number of outstanding students. After the nominations in late April and the voting in early May, the Senior Spotlights were announced during the Senior Day festivities on May 21. The announcement of the winners was a highlight of the occasion.

"Everyone I voted for won the positions in Senior Spotlights. I guess they really deserved to be chosen," commented senior Billy Ellis.

"It's a really indescribably special feeling to be recognized by your peers," said senior Mike Kastensmidt, who was awarded the title of 'Most Studious.'

Senior David Shelburne felt that, "It was inspirational that my friends chose me as a spotlight." While senior Amy Bauser jokingly reflected on her awards, "I'm really honored to have so many fans. Being chosen was fantastic!"

"Being chosen as 'Most Witty' was very important to me. Hopefully everyone will remember me and my bark for years to come," reflected senior James Richardson.

The special people and special events that filled each student's high school years would be remembered. SoHo's highlighted tradition was carried on by these chosen few.

Those Who Gave Both Time and Effort

MATHEW ABRAHAM: "It's an honor I never really expected to receive. I know I'll cherish the memory for the rest of my life." Matt was a very involved student throughout his four years at SoHo. Many of his extra curricular activities included National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta, Medical Explorers, Latin Club, and Health Occupations. He had also been awarded Teenager of the Month, Teenager of the Year, Academic Excellence, and Junior Optimist. Matt dedicated the majority of his time to Health Occupations; it was through this organization that he decided on his future goal of becoming a cardiovascular surgeon. Matt planned to attend Houston Baptist for his pre-med training, then four years in medical school and finally three years as an intern.

JULIE GLORIOSO: "I was really excited when I heard them announce my name; I was proud to know that the teachers chose to honor me." During her four years at SoHo, Julie was a dedicated representative. She was involved in many of the campus' activities such as National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta secretary, Senior class Vice-President, co-head varsity football cheerleader, Good Sportsmanship League, and Palladium Staff. Julie planned to attend the University of Houston and major in accounting.

GREG BOWIE: "In Latin it means 'always giving', to me it means someone who makes sacrifices and tries very hard." Greg's main interests were his grades and his music. He received numerous awards including Academic Excellence, Junior Optimist, and various band and orchestra awards. He planned to attend the University of Texas and major in biochemistry and minor in music.

STEVE STONE: "Someone always active in school and trying to help other people is what it means to me." Steve was actively involved in choir, basketball, baseball, and football. He received various awards such as Best Offensive Back and the Golden Glove Award. Steve put much of his concentration into his education and athletics. A very memorable moment of Steve's senior year was, "Meeting Dobie at our last football game and winning."

JOHN RODRIGUEZ: "I always think of giving to my school that always gave me the opportunities to achieve and excel." John participated in many activities such as football, track, Mu Alpha Theta, Spanish Club and National Honor Society. He was President of the National Honor Society. John was also honored with Academic Excellence and the Junior Lion Award. He planned to attend Texas A&M to become an electrical engineer.

ROBERT KOLAKOWSKI: "I felt others should have won it besides me, but nevertheless, I did win and I was very pleased." He was involved in both choir and athletics. Robert was a member of A cappella and Chamber Choirs. He played varsity football and varsity basketball. He was awarded the Super Sub in basketball. Along with serving on the Trojan Council, Robert was also a member of JETS. After graduation, Robert planned to attend Stephen F. Austin University where he would study pre-med to become a chiropractor.

MIKE EASLEY: "It's a recognition of all the hard work and achievements accomplished over the past four years." The subjects Mike excelled in were math and science. Mike was awarded many honors during his high school years such as Academic Excellence all four years, Junior Rotarian, Offensive Lineman of the Year, and Boys' State. He planned to attend Texas A&M and study chemical engineering.

DAVID SHELBURNE: "I am very honored and privileged to receive this award." David was an active participant in many of SoHo's activities over the past four years. He had been in choir since his freshman year. David was cast as the lead in each musical for the past three years. He participated in All-State choir and received numerous choir awards. Aside from his interest in choir, David was a Junior Optimist, National Merit Semifinalist, President of Christ-on-Campus, and was on the tennis team for two years. After graduation, David planned to attend San Jacinto College for two years and then hoped to attend a Christian college and major in Bible.

LISA LIRETTE: "I was surprised, excited, and happy. I am honored to be among those chosen Semper Donantes. It has been the highlight of my senior year. I'll never forget that moment." Lisa was an active member of the drill team. During her senior year, she was Lieutenant Colonel and her junior year, she was drill team Captain. She was voted most outstanding sophomore 'Jannette and she made the All-State and All-Star drill teams her senior year. Lisa was a member of the Forum staff for two years. She was a Junior Rotarian and was listed among Who's Who Among American High School Students.

MARY KETCHERSID: "I was shocked! I didn't expect to get it. I feel so many others were deserving and wish more people could have received the honor." Mary's involvement in high school varied from stage to gymnasium as she successfully played an active role in choir and basketball. She played basketball her first two years, once serving as team captain. She was also a member of A cappella and Chamber Choirs. She was in three pop shows and four musicals. In addition, Mary was choir Chaplain and a Christ-on-Campus officer. Along with being in the French Club, she was honored by Who's Who Among American High School Students. After graduation, Mary planned to attend San Jacinto College, then she hoped to transfer to Texas Tech to major in child development.

SHELLY CALLON: "It is definitely an honor to be chosen for such a special and meaningful award." Shelly was a very involved member of choir throughout high school. She was a member of both A cappella and Chamber Choirs and Company 8. Shelly was also awarded Junior Rotarian, Beauties of Troy, and Who's Who Among American High School Students. She planned to attend Baylor University and major in special education. "I will always treasure the memories I have of my years at South Houston and the special friends I have made," concluded Shelly.

STEPHANIE CONNETT: "I must say I am surprised but happy to receive it." Stephanie devoted much of her time to choir activities. She was a member of Company 8, A cappella and Chamber Choirs. She participated in region, area, and state choir. Stephanie felt that high school taught many things other than book knowledge. "I have learned success and failure and can now accept either." After graduation, Stephanie planned to get married and hoped to eventually attend college to further her education in music.

VALERIE KIRBY: "It makes me feel good to know that the teachers cared about what I did." Valerie kept herself very busy with National Honor Society, Speech, Drama Club President and she was a Thespian for two years. Drama played a major role in her high school years. She felt it was a great way to let out all of her aggressions. Valerie wanted to work with children as a career; it was this feeling that led her to choose to become a pediatrician after graduation.

MIKE KASTENSMIDT: "Be sure to get involved in high school, because you only go through it once. High school is a very rewarding experience if you stay involved." Mike was a major contributor to SoHo all four years. He was in orchestra throughout high school, and in All-State Orchestra his junior and senior years. Along with Mu Alpha Theta, National Honor Society, JETS, and the Model UN, Mike was on the Forum staff as news editor, as well as being a Junior Rotarian. "I received a lot of support from the faculty and students in everything I did. I'd also like to recognize my family for the never-ending encouragement they gave me."

AMY BAUSER: "I have pride in myself, and that helps me to achieve my goals." Amy was a member of the varsity swim team, Drama Club, Mime Troupe, Model UN, Mu Alpha Theta, and the National Honor Society. "I got involved in activities to keep me interested, but I never thought I was doing anything worthy of this honor."

IN THE PUBLIC EYE . . . CIVIC REPS.

Encompassing the qualities of leadership, good citizenship, and high academic achievement, several South Houston students were selected to represent our school at meetings of civic organizations.

The students were given the ceremonial title of junior members. After the students were asked to miss part of the school day to meet with their respective organization for a luncheon, they also observed the purpose and function that the clubs played in promoting the well-being of our community.

"It was really a great experience; I got to see how the Rotarians help the South Houston area," said senior David Estes, who was named Junior Rotarian for the month of October.

Not only is junior Cheryl Butcher an Elk for the month of February, she is also involved with drill.

Being in the public eye is nothing new for junior Donna Van Natter, who along with being a varsity basketball cheerleader, serves as an Elk for January.

Senior James Richardson, who loves having an audience, thrills at being chosen Rotarian for November.

Senior Kenny York, who was chosen as Rotarian for December, takes a break on the sidelines.

Singling out the best . . . individual awards

As the year progressed, several SoHo students had tallied up a myriad of awards recognizing their outstanding accomplishments. These awards were the end result of painstaking efforts and dedication; but success does have its rewards.

"It was really hard work. I had to practice several hours during the week and on weekends. It paid off though, All-State was a great experience," said sophomore Dwayne Zinn, who was chosen for All-State and Region Orchestra.

"I wrote an essay in preparation for U.I.L. Ready Writing; I didn't expect to win a scholarship from it," remarked senior Mike Kastensmidt.

Hand in hand with the awards and triumphs also came trying experiences and defeats. Altogether the experiences made better students of all. But then again, who said "success comes easily?"
